Hotel rooms Da Vittorio | Interior's architecture project

This project consists in the complete renewal of three rooms of the Relais&Chateaux La Dimora, the hotel part of the three star restaurant Da Vittorio.

The creative process followed a mantra I heard years ago, one I still believe in:

"Every room often suggests one or several solutions, sometimes even it seems to propose them. Just go back to different times, think as little as possible, and the suggestions come out of the walls, the ceiling, the floor. Talking rooms that you just need to know how to listen to."

Frequenting every room in different moments of the day sensations started to become ideas, and then, together with the great team of Gambirasio Interni, we decided to follow a tradition of a very particular english architectural culture: one room one atmosphere.

This was also the fil-rouge for the photographer's choice. I am very connected with Simone and with his almost artistic approach in which spaces are like people: once he pass the door with his camera, a silent dialogue starts.

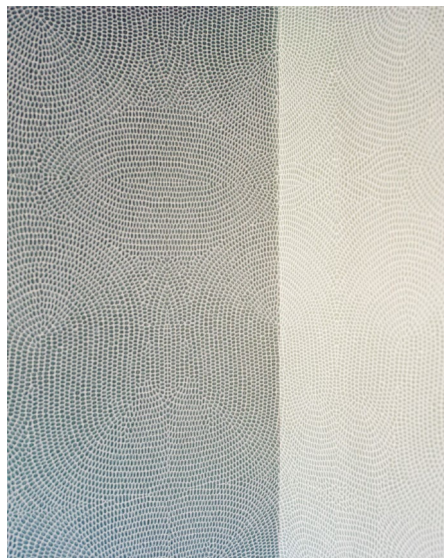

Apartment in Bergamo | Budget project

A very clear furniture assignment:
an empty apartment and an established budget.

I like so much working with this kind of tasks because, apart from the very basic directions shared with clients, it allows me to be quick and focus on the program, to be effective with furniture providers and, more important, to be always referred to the final atmosphere that i had i my initial vision.

For fabrics and furniture consulence i worked as always with the Gambirasio Interni's team. In this specific contest (historical center) we have to deal with tiny dimensions and with the irregularity of structures: I completely designed both the kitchen and the bedroom wardrobe, realizing them directly with carpenters.

Gambirasio Galleria | Art direction project

Gambirasio Galleria is a project in collaboration with the historical italian shop Gambirasio Interni.

As selection and proposal of rare objects and unique pieces for sale, Gambirasio Galleria is a set designed showcase of atmospheres made through a few iconic pieces presented in an eclectic contemporary way. The selection proposes a coexistence of objects with different strong identities and histories as a proper space-design method.

"I choose my items for their iconic aesthetics, regardless of their geographical origin or whether they are ancient, modern or contemporary objects."
